MEDINA, TEXAS - Arms of Hope's Board of Directors is pleased to announce the appointment of Troy Robertson as the organization's new President & CEO. "Troy is no stranger to Arms of Hope as he has been mentored and prepared for this role. Troy offers wonderful experience and continuity in furthering our mission which gives us great excitement about the future of Arms of Hope," stated Jerry Cox, Arms of Hope Board Chairman.

Troy has been Arms of Hope's Chief Operations Officer since May, 2012. Previously, he served as Arms of Hope's Director of Ministries. Before coming to Arms of Hope in 2008, Troy worked in multiple ministry roles, including youth and foreign missions. He graduated from Angelo State University with a Master of Public Administration.

"Over the past several years, I have been blessed and honored to serve Arms of Hope residents and interact with our dedicated employees and our generous supporters and volunteers," stated Robertson. "I look forward to continuing that service in my new role and seeing the amazing things God has planned for this exceptional ministry."

"Troy is a natural leader, who brings both a passion for helping children in need and the respect of Arms of Hope's dedicated staff. We all have high expectations for what Arms of Hope can achieve under Troy's leadership," stated Kevin McDonald, former Arms of Hope CEO and current board member.

Troy and his wife, Bonnie, have been happily married for twenty-one years and have six children: Taylor (20), Emily (18), Bailey Jo (15), Joshua(4), Titus (2) and Abigail (6 months).
