

Arms of Hope is a 501(c)(3) non-profit Christian organization that was formed by the consolidation of Medina Children's Home (est. 1958) and Boles Children's Home (est. 1924). In addition to Arms of Hope's residential facilities, Family Outreach Centers in Dallas, Denton, Fort Worth, Houston, and San Antonio assist individuals and families in need throughout the state. Arms of Hope offers programs for children and single-mother families who are fleeing poverty, homelessness, abuse, neglect, and human trafficking.

We hope you will consider attending Arms of Hope's 2023 Houston Reaching Generations Breakfast to help support the children and single-mother families we serve.

Jeff Bagwell was born on May 27, 1968 in Boston and played college baseball at the University of Hartford. He spent 15 seasons from 1991-2005 playing first base for the Houston Astros. A four-time All-Star, Bagwell recorded 449 home runs and batted over 300 six times in route to being inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame in 2017. As one of the cornerstone players for Houston along with fellow Hall of Famer Craig Biggio, Bagwell led the Astros to either a first or second place finish in the National League Central Division in 11 of 12 seasons from 1994-2005 along with a spot in the 2005 World Series. The Astros retired his jersey in 2007 and Bagwell is also a member of the Astros and Texas Sports Hall of Fames. Bagwell was drafted by the Boston Red Sox in the 1989 draft (4th round) and traded to Houston in 1990. He made his debut in the majors on April 8, 1991 and was named National League Rookie of the Year after hitting .294 with 15 home runs and 82 RBI. In 1994, Bagwell was named NL MVP – the first Astros player to be so honored - after a season in which he hit .368 with 39 home runs and 116 RBI. He also won the Silver Slugger and Gold Glove awards that season. Bagwell received votes for MVP in 10 separate seasons and additionally won two more Silver Slugger Awards in 1997 and 1999. Following the Astros second World Series win in 2022, Bagwell served as the Astros interim General Manager and his presence around Minute Maid Park and recruiting tips during the offseason exemplified his continued loyalty to the Astros franchise and its fan base. Arms of Hope looks forward to welcoming one of the most favorite Houston Astros to our stage to hear stories of inspiration and success.
